Presidential Candidate Royal College of Psychiatrists 2026

“Psychiatry is unapologetically a branch of medicine. Our patients thrive when we practise it that way.

From the potential dilution of medical identity to the state of mental health services, we face immense challenges.

With integrity, courage, and passion, I will lead efforts to face them.

Together, we can create a leadership of substance that will say what it thinks and do what it says.

Together, we can build a college that is engaged with its members and working for our patients”.
